

We're out here for you. Now. Yesterday. Tomorrow.

We apologize about the delay getting in touch. It's been a scramble to coordinate an outside response to the Covid-19 outbreak. We want you to know that you have been in our thoughts in the meanwhile. Experts have predicted, and by the time you see this you may be experiencing, a humanitarian disaster in there. To be honest, people outside were in many ways caught on our heels, but we are committed to coordinating medical advocacy and material support as best we can and to constantly be looking for more ways to put solidarity through the bars. Ideally, we're talking early release but you know we can't promise that.

So on the back of this there's an information sheet. The only thing we need from you right now is information to help us understand what's going on. We're in contact with lots of outside family and friends to gather this kind of information too when they call 410-449-7140 or reach out to us at iwoc.md@protonmail.com. We understand there will be a delay in the information getting back to us when you mail it back. It's better than nothing.

Stay strong.
